FZ TECHNOLOGIES

COMPOSITE GRAPHITE

This racket is made of a combination between graphite and glass fiber. The frame is graphite and the surface and hitting area are both glass fiber.

100% GRAPHITE

This racket is made of 100% graphite, which gives the player really good playability.

3K GRAPHITE

The 3k woven graphite rackets also consists of 100% graphite. The benefit of the 3k woven graphite makes the racket stronger and more durable.

12K GRAPHITE

A 12k graphite is a tight woven graphite which creates a really high graphite quality and gives players a really good racket with perfect playability and durability.

18K GRAPHITE

The top quality for padel rackets. Best graphite, best durability and best playability. The best material you can get!

SOFT EVA

A soft eva means that the eva foam inside the racket is quite soft. This gives the player a really good touch and nice feeling when playing.

HARD EVA

Rackets with hard eva inside insure that the touch is very fast and accurate. Here the player has good chances of hitting the ball hard and with lots of power.

X - SPIN

The rackets marked with the "x-spin" logo all have a more rough surface than basic rackets. This gives players a better chance to "grab" the ball and create a lot of spin while playing.

X - PROTECTION

If "x-protection" is marked on the racket it means that an extra frame protection is added on top of the frame from production. This protection helps to protect the racket when hitting the ground or wall.

HEAD LIGHT

The head light rackets gives players a very easy handling and really nice feeling. Your movements are faster, and this helps your control while playing.

MEDIUM BALANCE

Medium balanced rackets are a balance between the optimized handling from head light rackets and the more powerful head heavy rackets.

HEAD HEAVY

The head heavy rackets gives the player maximum power. When hitting the ball you will create more power with a head heavy racket.
